“ I had been wanting to get back with on my old friend on my "next visit to Little LA (Laurel)". Well today, I learned Billy Joe passed away yesterday and it causes me to pause and ask that everyone not delay on those words. Make a point to visit those who we shared lives great moments with.

As many of you can say, I spent some great times with Billy Joe in our younger years. Life took us down our own paths but I know we were just the same in many ways and being back in touch with him was certainly on my mind. Even as recent as YESTERDAY, another good friend and I were talking about Billy Joe and all the big times we had. Alot of songs I hear these days bring back road trips we made together to see some of the GREAT bands, the days of riding our dirt bikes and watching him and others race the Enduro's...twas a great time y'all. You will be missed Brotha.

For everyone else, take time to make time to visit with your our old friends. Rock on Billy Joe! I wish I could make it down tomorrow but I wont so my condolences to all the family!
