

Deborah Alyce Walters

March 15, 1957 - November 7, 2025

Deborah “Debbie” Alyce Walters (née Ingram), age 68, of the Stringer community in Laurel, Mississippi, went to her heavenly home on November 7, 2025.

Debbie was a woman of deep faith, gentle strength, and endless compassion. She devoted much of her life to serving others—especially children—through her years as a children’s church leader, where she joyfully nurtured young hearts in faith and kindness. In later years, she found her truest calling as an intercessor, dedicating her time and spirit to prayer and supporting others in their walk with God.

She found joy in life’s simple blessings—time spent with family, laughter with friends, music that lifted the soul, and the art of cooking and crafting with care. Her prayer group and her relationship with God were central to her heart, shaping the way she loved and encouraged everyone around her.

Debbie is survived by her oldest son, Jeremy Walters (Peter J. De Salvo III); her youngest son, Casey Walters (Jessica Walters); and her beloved granddaughters, Caroline, Catherine, and Clarabelle Walters. She is also survived by her sister, Donna Cochran; nephews Shelby (Penny) Watkins and their children Daniel, Sarah, and Mary Elizabeth; and Chad Watkins and his children Alexia, Emma, and Connor. She leaves behind a wide circle of close friends who cherished her faith, warmth, and unwavering kindness.

Debbie's life was a reflection of love in action—faithful, creative, and devoted. Her light continues to shine brightly through the family and friends she loved so deeply.
