“ Harold was a dear and lifelong friend of mine, as we started school together and were classmates throughout. He was such a happy guy and always in a good mood. We saw each other frequently as Arthur's was only a few doors away from the bank where I was keeping an eye on the money.

Just recently, we had a long and pleasant visit in the grocery aisle together and he always seemed to have more current news about friends than I did.

He will be greatly missed.
