“ Jon stopped in to visit on his way to a race in Martinsville (this was back in the 90's sometime). His car needed work to finish the trip, can't recall what. While we were working on it, I asked him, "A NASCAR race, Jon? Really?" He said, "Keith, races are just like the bluegrass festivals used to be....one HUGE party. I've yet to see a race, but I've been to quite a few parties at races!" We had steaks on the grill to celebrate getting together. We hadn't seen each other in more than a few years. I asked him how he wanted his steak done. "I'd like to think that a good vet could have some of the best steaks I've eaten", he said. "Rare, it is", says I. I hope it's rare steaks & bluegrass festivals wherever you are, my friend. PS. I'm still sorry about that cat.

“ So sorry for your loss. I haven't seen Jon for years. We all had some great times in ShawneeLand when we were younger. Prayers for the family and friends.

“ I am so sorry to learn of Jon's passing. I never met him, but heard so much about him (and spoke to him once on a Zoom call) from his sister Marsha. My condolences to his family, friends, and all of his loved ones. I know this is an unbearable void in your lives. I am so sorry. - Patricia Tyson
