“ If I had to choose one class of all of my high school classes that I loved the most it would be Miss Moss’ English teacher. There was no one like her. Her wit, intelligence and feisty nature were unlike any other. I remember thinking, I hope I end up as cool as this woman when I get older. She had a way of captivating a whole room by simply being who she was. The world has gotten a bit dimmer without this star.

“ Mrs. Linda Moss was my English teacher. The epitome of beauty and grace.
I loved when she would orate a story. She had the ability to pull you into the story so deep, you could think of nothing else- no small feat considering the attention span of teen-agers.
Rest in peace, Mrs. Moss. You definitely had an incredible effect on a lot of people.

“ Linda Moss was my English teacher at West Jones High School, and she truly embodied beauty, grace, professionalism, wisdom, and wit. Her influence left an indelible mark on me as a teenager, and the lessons she imparted continue to shape me as the professional I am today. Thank you, Mrs. Moss, for investing so much into your students. Your impact was profound and enduring. Rest in peace, sweet angel. You will always be remembered. Dr. Donetta McCullum-Weatherspoon

“Mason” was an adopted member of the Wells family and we loved her from her days of being Sharline's roommate at USM until the moment she passed away. Our children and grandchildren thought she was actually blood kin until they were almost grown. My husband, Buddy Wells, would introduce the two of us to strangers as my wife Linda and my girlfriend Linda. We will miss her and will look for her when we get to heaven! Our prayers go out to her family and friends.

“ This might be telling what a bugger I was in high school, but Mrs. Linda taught me what uncouth meant! And I never forgot it. She will be missed! Sending love, thoughts, and prayers to her family and friends. Wayne "Chip" Gordon
