“ I do miss you . I miss that you are not in lives of our children and weren't here when they got married and won't be here at important times in their lives. But I know you are watching from above and smiling with pride. Sometimes. I just go to this page and reread everything. today i felt like writing something. I know we had some very difficult times but we had some very good times some of the best times of my life. RIP !!!
