“ You are my brother, from cradle to the grave, and your memory will live on through me and the rest that actually care for you. Rest in peace, Ryan. You deserve it. Tell Chris and the others I said hello.

Love,
Kinsey

“ Damn this is horribly sad to hear. Me and Ryan used to play a crappy game like 20 years ago called Ants. Kawasaki was his name on there. We had a whole crew on there, kids acting tough on a game 😭😭

But absolutely looked forward to playing every day after school. It was the perfect stress reliever, always having fun, always talking shit to each other. Ryan was always care free, had an amazing spirit, always brought a smile to everyones face.

But as with all things, we grew up and lost contact. I tried to keep track of him on here. Like a big brother keeping track of a little brother. Definitely proud of him and the way he lived his life, guess I should of told him that?

So so so sorry I wasn't there for you man. Rest in Peace though, and be free of the pain. <3

“ Ry, I sent your flowers through Doris Tanner, but they'll be there. I put from Octa To Ry... and that id miss you forever which I will. I haven't stopped crying... but I know you wouldn't want me to be sad. I celebrate your life and everything you did to try and make Laurel a better place with the skatepark and your sweet self. You never imagined how many lives you touched. Including mine. ❤️

“ I knew Ryan forever we played this game called Ants back in 98. He'll always be kawa. We never met, but we always planned on it. We kept in contact through the years. More recently we talked about how he was making a rap album and we both loved writing and such. I think he saw what I have been going through and reached out, we related on a level not many did. I talked with him early morning of his passing. He was always a cool guy and kind. Also, you were one hell of a free styler, very impressive. The picture I added is one he would always send by accident and then unsend kind of became a running joke. He was always funny. I will miss you dude. Keep skating in heaven and beyond. You were gone far too soon
