

S. Carole Jordan

January 18, 1945 - August 7, 2024

S. Carole Jordan (January 18, 1945 - August 7, 2024)

Adventurous and headstrong Carole was never cut out for a normal life — and, she didn't have one. From architect, to horticulturist, to conservationist, her life was full of fierce purpose and wonder. She would settle only for a few minutes to taste the nectar of life and then continue through her beautiful journey to be a champion for those in need, and for the world we live in. She was fearless, as all who knew her can attest. Beautifully flawed like all of us, she was an inspiration to those who knew her, and a champion of the natural world as should we all be. She is survived by her two sons, Adrian and Nicholas, who loved and admired her; her sister, who helped her find peace and found peace in return; and, her chosen family in her community.

“When a caterpillar bursts from its cocoon and discovers it has wings, it does not sit idly, hoping to one day turn back. It flies.” — Kelseyleigh Reber

Now Mom returns to the universe that made her (indeed made us all), and all we can hope for is that her zeal and purpose can ignite humility, compassion, complexity, and intelligence within us all.

This Butterfly's wings have forevermore made its mark on those who knew her. May we all strive to fly that joyous changing wind.

To sign the online guest book, visit www.memorychapellaurel.com.

Tribute Wall

MT

“ My beautiful butterfly! I absolutely loved and love her! The way she'll calm down when she heard my voice or saw my face. The way she would say she loves me even though I was just one of many caregivers caring for her. She definitely was someone very special to me and it reminds me why I'm on this very special assignment. Love you always ... your miniature butterfly..

Mia Truitt - August 27, 2024 at 10:33 AM

FA

“ Beautiful tribute to an obviously wonderful woman and mother. My condolences to the family and friends.

Frank Anglade - August 27, 2024 at 08:21 AM

PB

“ This is a beautiful obituary, it makes me wish I had known her. I would love to be remembered like this. Rare are such beautiful memories of our loved ones who have passed.

Phyllis Byrd - August 22, 2024 at 05:07 PM