“ Kimble was so loving and kind, whenever I had the pleasure of seeing him, he had that ability to make people feel accepted and loved. In the days since I learned of his death, I see his smiling face, I see his face in crowds, that beautiful smile and he will be forever missed. I am so very sorry for your loss, for our loss

“ I'll never forget the day you talked me into not wearing makeup to go to the mall with you. I was appalled. I am a hairstylist. That's NOT how we roll. You insisted I looked beautiful just the way I was. I was reluctant, but you won. You were so proud bc for once, it didn't take me two hours to get ready. While in the store you noticed a beautiful rack of colorful, tailored (expensive) coats. You had noticed that the old coat I had on was a tad small and not warm enough. You were so proud of me for not wearing makeup that you wanted to somehow reward me, and you decided a New coat was just the thing. And boy did I need it. You told me to pick anyone I wanted, so I went to the rack where there were bright purple, white, and green coats. I loved them all! Hhhmmm, white? No. I'll get it dirty. Green? No. Not quite. Purple? Yes. Just right. Purple for Royalty---bc I was then learning my worth in the King.....and You Kimble Love III, were a major tool in that at the time. It's Still the Most Beautiful coat I have. It turns heads every winter, like I did tonight when I wore it. You'll never know what that meant to me.....or, maybe now you do. Ha. You were my husband. And the small time we had together on this earth grew me and shaped me in ways that will live on. You had your battles, but you certainly had your Victories. And your biggest victory is now---staring into the Face of Your Loving Heavenly Father. I chose you. I loved you. I love you now. Thank you for my beautiful coat Kimble. It meant the world to me and it still does. My coat of many colors, or should I say 'my coat of Royalty.' Rest well and enjoy your Adventures Precious one, because I Know you are having plenty of them! I love you, Kimble. (Swan) I'll see you again one day. ❤️ Stacey Suzanne Love
