

Warren Woodrow Collins, Jr.

February 10, 1945 - December 20, 2020

Warren Woodrow Collins Jr., known as Woody, passed on Dec. 20, 2020 of Covid-19.

He graduated from Laurel High School and the University of Southern Mississippi. Woody was an avid sailor, classic car collector, shrimp boat captain and a South Central Bell manager. He raced Formula Vee cars in his youth, and served as an in-flight auto pilot technician on B-52 bombers for the US Air Force in the Vietnam War.

He was preceded in death by his wife Donava Smith Collins. He is survived by his brother Ken Collins, his two children Brandy and Woody, and three grandchildren, Grey, Rye, and Iris.

To sign the online guest book, visit www.memorychapellaurel.com.

Tribute Wall

BP

“Woody was a close friend we shared a lot of great times, I will miss him, may he rest in peace. Bill Pogue

Bill Pogue - January 01, 2021 at 11:12 AM

ST

“I loved every single minute I have ever spent with Woody and my Dad. There is not a person in this world that can “one up” a Woody and George story! Sending love to Brandi and Woodchuck!

Sharon Terry - December 27, 2020 at 08:38 PM

BR

“Nobody loved to laugh more than you Daddio. RIP.

Brandy Rothman - December 25, 2020 at 04:32 PM

DF

“Rest In Peace buddy we made a lot of memories growing up Dickie Furr

Dickie Furr - December 22, 2020 at 06:56 PM

GT

“Rest in Peace, old friend.

George B Terry - December 22, 2020 at 01:18 PM